THE NORTHERN VALLEYS.

Where Reno Can Look for Future Support and Growth—Thousands of Acres Lying Idle—Waiting for a Road and a Market.

From our own Correspondent.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—In the month of June, 1864, a small party of pioneers in search of a fertile region in which to make a home for themselves and families, settled within the borders of Surprise Valley. Many difficulties had then to be overcome. Indians rendered it dangerous in the extreme for a small settlement, and the winters were very severe for those who were not prepared for a four months' seclusion from the outside world. But by dint of hard labor in building huts, with precautionary measures against savage attacks, they lived through their first winter, and by the following summer, others hearing of their successful discovery, came and commenced building, fencing, and tilling the soil, and by the second winter quite a settlement had sprung up. At this time the government, at the northern end of the valley, was a liberal and high-priced consumer of all products raised in the valley; but as the population increased and all the available soil was turned to account, Uncle Sam's boys could not afford a market for the surplus of produce that was raised, and as a consequence, prices went down, and producers looked for another market, which they found in Reno, although under the present circumstances, it is poor one.

THREE GREAT BASINS

extend through Modoc county, one along the eastern and the other two along the western base of the Sierra Nevada mountains. These are known as Surprise, Pitt River and Goose Lake valleys, one to a great extent analogous to the other. Surprise Valley is wholly devoted to the cultivation of cereals and vegetables, with a soil adapted to the propagation of fruit trees, and on the western side of the mountains stock-raising is successfully carried on, although grain of all kinds can and to a certain extent is brought forth in abundance. Besides these three valleys there are numerous others of less area stretching for miles into Oregon, which serve for stock-raising purposes. Surprise Valley supports three towns of moderate size—Cedarville, Lake City and Fort Bidwell. Cedarville is in the central portion of the valley and although of small size, is by no means deficient in a business point of view. Lake City "has seen its day," although quite a town still remains. It is nine miles north of Cedarville. Sixteen miles further on, at the head of the valley is situated Fort Bidwell. It is difficult to distinguish between the amount of business done in Bidwell and that of Cedarville, as their interests are mutual and they have about an equal portion of the population from which to draw patronage. The population of Surprise Valley will approximate 3000. It is sixty-five miles in length and twelve miles in width. To the east of the valley, with a low range between, are thousands of acres of land which are used wholly for stock raising purposes. Within the last two years many improvements have been made, and during the past six months, times have never been better than in Surprise Valley. Along the western base of the Sierra, extending for about 100 miles are GOOSE LAKE AND PITT RIVER VALLEYS. Although not so thickly settled as Surprise, they are none the less important in point of wealth attained on natural resources. There are three towns of importance in the two valleys, viz: Alturas, in Pitt River Valley; Willow Ranch and Lakeview in Goose Lake Valley; the latter place being in Lake county, Oregon. Alturas is the main trading point, and the county seat of Modoc county, Cal., doing more business than any other town in the county. A weekly newspaper, the Modoc Independent, is published here. Willow Ranch has its share of trade from the stock men and farmers, and contains a flouring mill and large saw mill in addition to other business places. Lakeview is the county seat and only town of special importance in Lake county, Oregon. The States Line Herald, a weekly paper, is published in this place, and the material has been received for another paper, which will be run in the interests of the Democratic party, the Herald being independent in principles.

SIO VALLEY, situated in the western portion of Modoc, and northwestern portion of Lassen counties, is an agricultural and stock raising section, although to within the last two years the cultivation of cereals had not received much attention. Adio, in the southern portion of the valley, is the trading point, where a weekly paper, the Hawkseye, is published. All this wide extent of country on the western side of the Sierra, with its immense trade in live stock, products of the soil, etc., is, in great part, so divided that Reno secures only a small share of its patronage. Reading, Millville, Red Bluff and other points having a great portion. On the eastern side of the mountains in Surprise valley the people depend wholly on Reno for a market. Knowing that their pens, than mine have frequently discussed the question of a railroad north from some point in Nevada, I would only say that, should Reno show enough ambition and enterprise to secure such a road, all this northern trade would pour into Reno, thus doubling her wealth and also inuring for the northern settler that which he has so long waited for, communication with the outside world and a market for his produce.

The Word "soudont."

Which has already become a household word, is derived from the Greek, and is composed of two words, Soso and Odentes. "Soso" translated, means to preserve, and "Odentes" the teeth—"SOZODONTES" a preserver of the teeth. And it is true to a name. It beautifies and preserves the teeth, hardens and invigorates the gums, and corrects all impurities of the breath. The odor of this preparation is so delightful that it is a luxury to apply it. It is as harmless as water. Sold by druggists and perfumers.

WHITEHEAD'S LATEST POEM.

The Virginia Chronicle of last evening contained a poem of great interest from the pen of J. B. Whitehead, the bard of Pyramid. Mr. Whitehead's poetic talents are too well-known to our readers to make any introduction of him necessary. These pages have contained some of the young author's very best productions. His latest poem is in lyric form, and relates a romantic story of true love in Surprise Valley. The argument is simple, though the poet keeps his readers in suspense as to the fate of the young lovers until the very end.

Briefly, the story is this: A young man from Missouri falls in love with a Surprise Valley girl, named Emma Fraser. She returns his passion, but her stern parent frowns on his suit. They elope, are pursued by her father whose horse dies at the right time, and the couple marry and are forgiven.

Some idea of the old gentleman's peculiarities may be gathered from the fact that "Many a young man he shown the door,

And gently admonished to come no more."

Of the maiden we are told that

"Features more perfect, a form more elegant,
A sculptural artist could not invent."

From the following lines it may be gathered that her father had some sectional prejudices, for in turning away the lover he

"Told him with oaths, that did his soul unman,
That Emma never should wed a Missourian."

The description of the flight and pursuit is, perhaps, the most stirring portion of the whole poem. The fugitive pair are speeding along in a carriage, with the old man on his favorite horse, Sir Archie, galloping after,

"Tearing clouds of dust from the soil,
And the blood flow'd freely from a large vein."

The old man was rapidly overhauling them, when a timely accident brought him to grief, and ensured their escape. His horse fell beneath him,

"While the blood flow'd freely from a large vein,
That a dislocated shoe had cut in twain."

The "death throws" of the noble steed are feelingly described. As published in the Chronicle, Mr. Whitehead's system of phonetic spelling is carefully preserved throughout the lyric, a feature which adds to the interest of his poem, while it greatly aids to save its feet from falling.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We would be very much pleased to have any of our citizens who take outside papers, call upon us when they want to renew their subscriptions. We have by far the most extensive collections of any paper in Nevada, and we can give a price on all the leading publications of the day with our large and excellent weekly, nearly as cheap as would be asked for either one alone. If we have any paper or magazine on our list which one of our old subscribers would like to have, we can send it to him and send our paper to some of his friends in the East or elsewhere. This is a valuable offer for people in this vicinity, as we give the lowest rates ever made in Nevada or California.

A correspondent of the Enterprise suggests that the rank and file of the Republican party should have a voice in the choice of the national candidate for the Presidency. He advises a vote for the six delegates, and that each voter write the name of his candidate upon the ticket. We hope the plan may be adopted. It would be unfair for a committee selected a good while ago, to pick out the men to cast our vote, regardless of our feelings and preferences.

The pitiful story of Mrs. Meeker, wife of the Indian Agent murdered by the Utes, comes to us by telegraph. Although she is over sixty years of age and was suffering at the time from a severe wound in the fleshy part of the thigh, she was brutally outraged by Chief Douglas, assisted by his squaws. Her sister, Mrs. Price, and Mrs. Meeker's daughter suffered a like fate from others of the tribe.

The route agents in the postal service have organized an association with a view to obtaining an increase of salary. A year ago their salaries were cut down to $75 per month. The route agents ask for $100 per month, and in view of their responsibilities, hard work, and exposure they should have it.

The Summit uses papers that come there as mail matter, to wrap up goods which he sells in his store. When ever a paper directed to some other office chances to fall into his hands he uses it in that way instead of forwarding it to its destination.

There is a strong probability that the present legislature of California will make some law against the stock boards. The new constitution gives that body the power to entirely prohibit the meetings of the boards and there is a great deal of pressure being brought to bear to bring it about.

A Wonderful Paragraph.

The most wonderful surgical operation ever heard of is thus reported in the Limestone (Tex.) News: "A boy at Wetherford, was suffering from an obstruction of the windpipe, from which he nearly died before his parents would submit him to be operated upon. It was the intention of the physician to have operated before death, but he did not arrive in time. When he did come the operation was at once performed, and the boy resuscitated. He is now living and will recover." A doctor who can raise the dead ought to have a large practice.

Last Saturday, near Chico, a three-year-old son of Charles Sturkey fell into a tub of scalding-hot water and was so severely injured that he died on Monday morning.

The Quincy National of December 27 says: Eight days between mails is somewhat trying to the patience of the people. The National reports the snow on the mountains six feet in depth.

Price, 75 cts. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker, Druggists, Reno, Nevada.

JEWELRY

$75.00 worth for $15.00.

Solid Abyssinian Gold Watch FREE! FREE! FREE!

The above offer is genuine, although at first sight you would consider it impossible. We will explain: Since we first established our business here, March 1st, 1918, we have paid particular attention to the buying of Bankrupt and Auction lots of Jewelry and Watches often buying at as low as one-tenth their value and in instances have paid over one sixth the manufacturers' price. Since starting we have always been able to dispose of these goods in Chicago and through our regular customers throughout the country at nearly regular prices, as fast as we could procure them, but owing to the large number of failures among the heaviest dealers and manufacturers throughout this and other countries during the months of June, July and August (the time when the jewelry business is stagnant), we have now on hand an immense stock of the most desirable goods we have ever handled, and which we have bought at lower prices than ever before. In order to dispose of this entire stock in the most speedy manner possible, we have made room for new ones which we shall continue to buy, we have hit upon the following novel plan: We propose to give you a list of the most desirable of these goods, giving opposite each article its regular retail value, and sell to you at the rate of Five Dollars and 50 Cents. For instance, on receipt of 50 cts. we will send you, postpaid, any article to the value of $5.50; on receipt of $1.00 we will send you $10.50, and so on throughout the entire list.
